Atlanta, Georgia – National Electronic Attachment today announced that the American Academy of Periodontology (AAP) has chosen NEA to be the preferred provider for its members. NEA's FastAttach[™] system is utilized for the transmission of dental electronic attachments.

FastAttach[™] enables dental offices to transmit dental attachments (x-rays, perio charts, intra-oral pictures, narratives and EOB's), via the Internet, to NEA's repository where payors are able to view them, in support of electronic claims. For dental offices, FastAttach[™] accelerates claim processing and eliminates the need to duplicate and mail x-rays. Periodontist require the highest percentage of attachments today in dental.

"It has been a pleasure working with the staff at the AAP and we look forward to registering their members to send their attachments electronically," states Tom Hughes, CEO of NEA. "We know that all dental offices should be sending their claims and attachments electronically and commend the AAP for educating their members in this direction".

NEA, the leader in Internet based solutions for the healthcare industry, offers systems designed to make the process of insurance submissions and processing as easy as possible for the Patient, the Healthcare Office and the Insurance Payor. NEA is the leader in the Dental and Medical (both Professional and Institutional) attachments marketplace.

The AAP is a 7,500-member association of dental professionals specializing in the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of diseases affecting the gums and supporting structures of the teeth and in the placement and maintenance of dental implants. Periodontics is one of the nine dental specialties recognized by the American Dental Association.
